BERLIN ADDS BULGARIA TO AXIS CAMP

BIG PARADE TO OPEN CHRISTMAS SEASON

Circleville started Tuesday to take on a holiday appearance as utility company employees began to decorate the Main and Court Street intersection in preparation for the arrival of the Christmas season.

The corner decoration will be an elaborate one, comparing with, or even surpassing, in brilliance those of the last several years.

This step is the first in Circleville's preparation for opening of the Christmas season next Saturday when the uptown district will take on a festive atmosphere for a big holiday parade scheduled at 1:30 o'clock. The Chamber of Commerce is making arrangements to entertain a great crowd, with Santa Claus to appear in the big procession, which will be featured also by six bands.

Brightly-costumed helpers will be with Santa Claus, and toy balloons and sticks of candy will be tossed to the youngsters of the city and county who attend the parade.

Old Saint Nick has become more modern this year than in several seasons, and has informed Chamber of Commerce officials that his trip to Circleville will be made in an airplane. He is due to arrive at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon to prepare for participation in the parade.

The old fellow is bubbling over with joy and good will this year, and his gift bag is filled with hundreds and hundreds of choice selections. All stores of the city are well stocked with Santa Claus's up-to-date merchandise, and business houses are ready for a great influx of persons who have long since learned the value of making selections early in order to obtain the best bargains available, and at the same time to escape the last minute rush.

Crowds that come to Circleville Saturday will hear some outstanding musical organizations since six bands will be in the parade. They include the Ashville, Walnut Township, Williamsport and Stoutsville High School bands in addition to Circleville's two units.

Workmen the remainder of this week will be busy erecting lights and Yule trees along the streets of the business district. They hope to have all their work completed before the eventful day.

Budapest Reports Soviet

Moved Through Area

BUDAPEST, Nov. 19—A sweeping move by Nazi Germany to clinch axis control of the Balkans and ultimately bring Hungary, Romania and Slovakia into the Italo-German-Japanese military alliance was predicted by well-informed sources in Budapest today.

While speculation continued over the unexpected visit of King Boris of Bulgaria to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler at Berchtesgaden, Budapest informants stated that Soviet Premier and Commissar V. M. Molotov had promised the Fuehrer "full and exclusive" control of the Balkans.

Boris, it was learned, flew to Germany on Saturday with his foreign minister, Ivan Popoff and Baron Richtofen, German minister to Sofia.

They spent three days in Berchtesgaden, presumably reviewing the entire Balkan situation. While some reports said the king gave Germany permission to move Nazi troops through Bulgaria to aid Italy's campaign against Greece, other sources said that Boris sought the Fuehrer's cooperation in keeping his country out of the conflict.

In any case, the visit was looked on as symptomatic of increasing German-Bulgarian cooperation. Whether Bulgaria will be able to keep out of the conflict is problematical. Extreme nationalists in Bulgaria openly advocate military collaboration with the axis.

ALBANIA CITY'S FATE UNCERTAIN;
CAPTURE DENIED

ATHENS, Nov. 19 — Beating back strong Fascist counter-offensives, Greek forces have registered new gains along the entire battle front, at the same time closing in more tightly on three sides of Koritza, Italy's military base in Albania, the high command stated today.

(Editor's Note: A Reuters (British) dispatch from Belgrade said that Koritza had fallen and that Greek troops entered the city at 1 a. m. today, capturing an enormous quantity of war material, according to dispatches from the Yugoslav-Greek frontier.)

(This afternoon authoritative British circles said they had received no confirmation of reports that the Greeks had captured Koritza.)

(The London Daily Telegraph reported that the Greeks had entered one section of Koritza. But the London News Chronicle reported from the Yugoslav frontier that the Italians were holding the hills outside Koritza and that three Hellenic attacks had been beaten off.)

Press Minister Theologos Nicolaoudis issued an urgent appeal for more warplanes to aid the Greek land forces.

'BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN'
UNIT IS BEING FORMED

Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, South Court Street, has been appointed general chairman in Pickaway County for "Bundles for Britain" by the executive board of the national organization.

"Bundles for Britain" sponsors the work of making knitted garments to be sent to the soldiers of England, such as was done under the direction of the Red Cross in the World War for the soldiers of the Allies.

Mrs. Shulze plans to organize a unit and get under way with the work in the county as soon as directions are sent from general headquarters.

REP. DIES WOULD UNMASK NATION'S FOES

500-PAGE WHITE PAPER GUARDED BY PROBE CHIEF

Former German Spy Ring
Member Questioned In Chicago Hearing

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—As he prepared to re-question a 23-year-old German identified as an agent in America of the Nazi secret police, the dreaded Gestapo, Rep. Martin Dies revealed today he is seeking authorization to publish a 500-page "white paper" which "will warn the nation who its enemies are."

Publication of the "white paper," Dies said, would hasten the end of totalitarian espionage in the United States. He said he is urging his fellow members on the congressional committee investigating un-American activities to give him permission to release the documents, reportedly a complete record of the committee's findings regarding alleged activities in this country of German and Italian agents.

"We just can't wait for the people to strike," Dies declared. "We must strike first. America can successfully combat the spies, Fifth Columnists and Trojan Horse groups operating in this country only by courage and prompt action."

"Publication of the 'white paper' will warn the nation who its enemies are. A spy's usefulness comes to an end if he is exposed." The alleged Gestapo agent named by Dies was Heinrich Peter Fassbender, alias Harry Smith, a native of Dusseldorf, Germany. Dies said the youth had been employed in military and factory espionage for the German government since 1935.

Credentials Authentic

Fassbender, who was questioned for two hours by Dies in Chicago yesterday and faced another four hours of interrogation today, carried authentic credentials from the German government, the congressman asserted. Also, Dies said, Fassbender had checks from the Nazi government, and photographs that established his connections beyond dispute.

The checks, Dies said, showed that Fassbender had been paid sums ranging from $100 to $200 for spying activities, which included (Continued on Page Three)

WILLKIE ARRIVES IN FLORIDA FOR TWO WEEK REST

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Nov. 19—Wendell Willkie settled down on a spacious Florida estate today to the first real vacation he has had since he was nominated as the Republican presidential candidate last June.

Accompanied by Mrs. Willkie and a secretary, Grace Grahm, the defeated GOP standard-bearer went last evening to the 20-acre estate, Hobe Sound, owned by Playwright J. V. Reed, to remain two weeks.

"I have only one desire just now," Willkie said. "And that is to get some rest—plenty of rest."

"After budgeting myself to four hours sleep daily during the campaign, I find I would rather sit than stand, and rather stretch out than sit. I am making no personal plans until after this vacation. Then I probably will return to New York."

Some two dozen persons, including several Republican notables, greeted the Willkies on their arrival at the estate. Among those in the gathering were Sam Pryor, Willkie's eastern campaign manager and vice chairman of the Republican national committee; J. Leonard Replogel, Florida national committeeman, and Newman T. Miller, Florida executive committeeman.

Registrant's Board, Members
Of Bar Meet Afternoons
To Speed Up Work

The Registrant's Advisory Committee for Pickaway County, together with members of the Pickaway County Bar Association, will meet in the Common Pleas court room Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons to assist registrants in filling out their questionnaires.

Members of the Registrant's Advisory Committee are Charles H. May, Tom O. Gilliland and Robert D. Musser.

Draft board members announced Tuesday that 112 questionnaires were due to be returned Tuesday, and with the help of the advisory committee and bar members, questionnaires should come in faster.

Numerous questionnaires already received by the draft board have had to be returned because the registrant failed to have the affidavit on the back notarized. Any notary or public official may notarize the affidavit, draft board members said.

The board will meet Tuesday evening to begin its classification.

First Draftees At Fort Hayes

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—With the inspiring words and best wishes of Governor Bricker, Adj. Gen. Gilson D. Light and other state dignitaries ringing in their ears, Ohio's first 75 draftees under the National Selective Service program proudly reported for duty today at the Ft. Hayes Barracks—the first step in their year's military training.

The central Ohio contingent—24 young single men from eight Franklin County boards—was welcomed and bid Godspeed by the governor on the steps of the statehouse. Proud the governor was as he surveyed them, for they were nearly 100 percent volunteers.

The adjutant general's office reported that the same ratio held in other groups reporting for duty today. While no exact figures were available, an aide declared (Continued on Page Three)

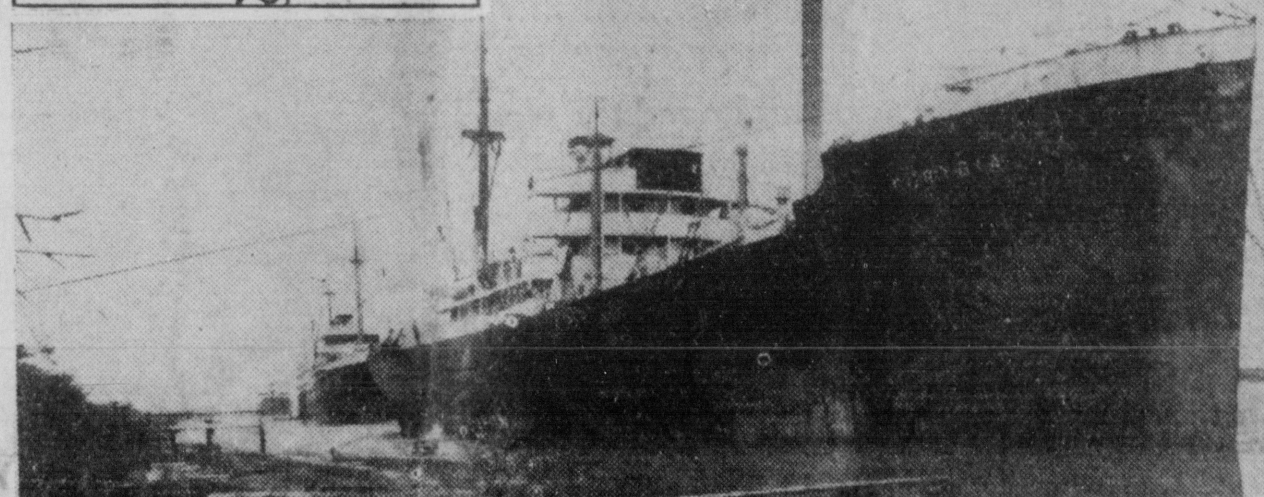

CURTISS-WRIGHT TO DISPLAY NEW FIGHTER PLANE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—A new interceptor-fighter plane that can be "heard but not seen" because of the deceptive sound of its motors will be demonstrated publicly for the first time today at St. Louis, Mo., by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation when it breaks ground there for a new large aircraft plant, it was announced here.

The new plane can climb a vertical mile in a minute, according to Curtiss-Wright officials, and is one of a larger number now being built for delivery to a foreign government, presumably Great Britain.

The new fast climbing craft, known as the 21B, is a highly streamlined, single-place, low-wing, all-metal monoplane equipped with the latest military aircraft accessories.

URUGUAY'S PLAN TO GRANT BASES TO U. S. SCORED

MADRID, Nov. 19—The entire Spanish controlled press and the government radio today took up the denunciatory campaign against Uruguay's announced plans to cede naval and air bases to the United States.

Following the lead of the Falangist newspaper Arriba, which launched the campaign Sunday with a warning to Uruguay that granting America bases would be tantamount to suicide, Madrid newspapers today flooded their columns with charges that America is seeking to impose "another Gibraltar" on South America.

Support for the campaign was enlisted from the chancellor of the Spanish Central University and the University student syndicate, both of which were founded under the Falangist Party. The chancellor sent messages to Latin-American universities urging them "not to allow any foreign power to install itself in spirit or in body in the Hispanic world."

(Editor's Note: On Monday, President Alfredo Baldomir of Uruguay announced that the government was going to go ahead with plans to allow the U. S. to establish base despite political opposition because of Uruguay's solemn agreement with other American countries "to cooperate in the defense of the continent for the welfare of all.")

ENDING a dramatic attempt by four German merchantmen to run the British blockade, the 4,137-ton freighter Phrygia lies in the Gulf of Mexico, a scuttled, charred derelict. Her three companion ships turned back to the Mexican port of Tampico (see inset map), where the vessels are shown previous to their sortie. The Nazi captains believed they were being pursued by British warships, but there is a possibility the warships were part of the United States neutrality patrol.

BITTINGER BITTER BERATING BRICKER

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—Charges that Governor Bricker's campaign managers spent at least $1,500,000 "to corrupt the electorate" and to buy votes "by tens of thousands," to reelect him to a second term were made today by J. Freer Bittering, Democratic state chairman.

"No one can use that much money honestly in an Ohio campaign," Bittering said.

Bricker defeated the Democratic candidate, former Gov. Martin L. Davey, by a majority of 359,633. In a statement following his defeat, Davey asserted the Democratic party was hampered by lack of campaign funds.

"An all-time record of political corruption was set by the Bricker campaign managers," Bittering added. "They admitted in their reports to the Secretary of State that they collected almost a million dollars ($903,311) and spent nearly three quarters of a million ($725,392)."

"I make the grave charge that they spent a million and a half dollars, and were afraid to report it all. I made a similar charge before election, and their reports prove it."

Bittering added that "it is generally reported that their agents bought votes by the tens of thousands, and used vast sums of money to corrupt the electorate in other ways."

"Nor is this all the political sins of the Bricker gang," Bittering continued. "They took great sums of Willkie money, and then traded off Mr. Willkie (Wendell L. Willkie, GOP presidential nominee) for the exclusive benefit of Bricker. Where Willkie was strong, they clamored for his votes, but where he was weaker, they traded Mr. Willkie down the river in the most brazen manner."

CHARGES HITTING KANSAS CITY BOSS ARE KILLED

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19—Charges against T. J. Pendergast, former Democratic boss, and two other defendants, of conspiring to defraud the government and obstruct justice, were nolle prossed and dismissed today at the request of U. S. District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan.

NEED FOR MORE MEN IN DETROIT AREA REPORTED

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19 — With only 12,000 men employable out of an estimated 120,000 unemployed, the Detroit area will face a shortage of manpower by next summer in attempting to fulfill national defense contracts, the magazine Steel said today.

More than 13,000 men will be added to the Packard Motor Company's new aircraft engine plant when it reaches full production, and other plants being awarded defense contracts also will require additional men, the magazine declared.

LIVERPOOL HIT BY NAZI BOMBS IN NIGHT RAIDS

LONDON, Nov. 19—Damaging a church, a college and various residential areas, German raiders dropped tons of high explosives and thousands of incendiary bombs on the important west coast port of Liverpool during the night and early today.

The Nazi planes struck at the city in the face of terrific anti-aircraft fire.

A majority of the bombs fell in residential districts, but fire fighters prevented any serious conflagrations. Several gas and water mains were fractured, however.

The raid caused a number of casualties, some of them fatal. Numerous houses were demolished. The raiders struck at Liverpool (Continued on Page Three)

Lancaster Jury Raps Gambling

Five Persons Indicted, Including Charles White, Former "Numbers" Operator In Circleville; "Tampering" Charged

Investigation of alleged gambling activities in Lancaster and Fairfield County has resulted in five indictments of Lancaster residents, one a former Circleville "numbers" operator.

The indictments were voted after Judge Frank Acton called a new grand jury after he charged that a previous jury that failed to find any evidence of gaming had been tampered with. As a result of the judge's complaint the new jury indicted Paul Schisler, manager of the Lancaster state liquor store for allegedly influencing members of the jury.

The charge against Schisler was a secret indictment, the store manager providing bond for appearance at a Saturday arraignment.

The jury claimed that three members of the regular October venire were "improperly approached" but that "in only one instance" was evidence sufficient to warrant indictment.

One of the persons indicted for participating in the "numbers" racket was Charles White, a resident of Lancaster, who has several times forfeited bonds in Circleville courts for operating "numbers" here. White never resided in Circleville, conducting his local "business" while a resident of the Fairfield County seat. Other gaming indictments were returned against Bernard A. O'Connor and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Freisner.

Library Notes

Among the interesting and worthwhile books recently added to Circleville Public Library is one entitled: "Why Smash Atoms?" by Arthur K. Solomon, a scientist attached to the research departments of Harvard University, and Harvard Medical School.

Atom-smashing is an operation in which at the present time many scientists are engaged. That this should be an interesting occupation for the scientist, the average person might easily understand. But it is natural for him to ask: "What is its practical purpose, and how can the enormous expense of operating such an atom-smashing machine as the cyclotron be justified?" Dr. Solomon answers these questions by indicating the practical results of atom-smashing in different fields of science. In the medical field, for example, he shows how energy released from atoms and becoming radioactive, provides a substitute for radium that may be taken internally. It is easy to see the relation of this discovery to the treatment of cancer.

Dr. Solomon's book is a popular treatise, and should be widely read.

PROBATE JUDGE TALKS OF TASK WITH JUVENILES

An excellent address on "The Juvenile Problem" was presented to the Kiwanis Club Monday evening in its meeting at Hanley's when Probate Judge Lemuel Welton spoke.

He discussed the various problems connected with juveniles, and some of the causes of delinquency, citing poverty and broken homes as two of the outstanding reasons for trouble with youngsters.

He urged closer study of the Juvenile problem by organizations such as Kiwanis in an effort to help correct conditions.

He was the guest of Sterling Lamb.

The club voted to buy 25 tickets to the Child Conservation League presentation, "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates" to be presented November 26 at the Cliftona Theatre. The tickets will be distributed by the League to boys and girls who would otherwise not be permitted to enjoy the show. Several other organizations have voted, also, to buy tickets for a similar purpose.

A debt will be paid at the December 2 meeting of the club when the Rotary Club, victor in a football season ticket sale contest, will be entertained.

Next week the regular meeting will be conducted on Monday evening at Hanley's, but another meeting will be conducted Wednesday when Kiwanians and their wives will attend the turkey supper of the Williamsport Methodist Church. A table will be reserved for Kiwanians with all members expected to be at the Williamsport church at 6 o'clock.

STARS SAY—

For Tuesday, November 19

A PARTICULARLY lively and interesting day, with things taking a sudden and intriguing turn, which may upset all previous plans and tactics, judging by the shrewd and subtle aspects of the planets. All relating to promotional enterprises, new propositions, publicity, writings, renewal of contracts and agreements are to the fore and calling for much discretion, strategy and keen insight in order to reap the greatest benefits. Be amenable to change should it appear advisable. There may be social reaction rather disappointing, irritating.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very lively and eventful year, with much commotion and surprise, perhaps intrigue and undercover activities. New matters, innovations, unusual adventures, in which writings, contracts, advertising and promotion have public appeal and deep significance which call for far vision, cleverness and subtlety as well as strategy in order to rise to the ambitious climax aimed at. Sudden or surprising reactions may arise in the personal, social or even affectional relations may even affectional relations unless circumspect and rational point of view be maintained. Change and travel are probable.

A child born on this day should be exceedingly clever, resourceful, original and shrewd. It will be equipped for much popularity in any of the professions.

It is said that when Thomas Edison was invited to dinner, he either took his own food along or ate what he desired before leaving home.

that so far as he knew not one man had been "drafted" in the strict sense of the term.

Some Quit Jobs

"In fact," he said, "many of those in this first outpouring of the state's manpower have quit their jobs to serve their country."

The contingents reporting today included also 12 men from Cuyahoga County; nine each from Trumbull, Mahoning, and Ashtabula Counties, and six each from Crawford and Stark Counties. These are the first of the 966 Ohioans who will be called for military service this year.

One hundred and two others will report tomorrow at Ft. Hayes, in addition to 100 from southeastern Ohio who will report directly to Ft. Thomas, Ky., and another 102 who will report Friday to Ft. Hayes. Nine others from Gallia and Lawrence Counties will report Friday at Huntington, W. Va.

Following the brief but impressive ceremonies at the statehouse, the army took over. The men were taken to Ft. Hayes, in the northeast section of the city, where they joined the other contingents. There they were to be welcomed into the army and have their duties outlined to them by Brig. Gen. Clement A. Trott, commander of the fifth corps area. There they were to take their oaths of office.

Stay In Drill Hall

The men will be quartered to night in the old drill hall—a barnlike structure once used as a riding hall by the cavalry in the pre-mechanized days of the army. The building has been modernized, however, and is used regularly as a reception center for new recruits.

The conscripts will be held at Ft. Hayes only long enough for their physical examinations and various inoculations—24 hours at the most. Tomorrow they will be taken to Ft. Thomas, the regular corps area reception center, where their training will begin in earnest.

FRAUD CHARGED IN VOTE MARKING IN IRONTON AREA

IRONTON, Nov. 19 — Alleged evidence of ballot tampering in the Lawrence County commissioner race has been uncovered in one precinct, the county board of election revealed today.

George Clarke, Democratic incumbent, was defeated in the November 5 election by W. M. Baldwin, Republican, by a 40-vote margin. He asked for a recount by which, board officials said, alleged vote tampering was uncovered.

A total of 76 straight Democratic tickets in Precinct two of Upper Township were crossed over and an "X" marked in front of Baldwin's name, officials said. A similar case was uncovered in the 1936 election. Indictments were returned, but there were no convictions.

TWO FINED AND JAILED AFTER COURT'S INQUIRY

Vesper M. Large and Miss Ethel Queen, both of near Clarkburg, charged with contributing to the delinquency of Bernice Whitson, were each fined $25 and costs and sentenced to sixty days in County Jail, Tuesday, following their hearing before Probate Judge Lemuel Weldon.

Another person, Clarence Conrad, against whom statutory charges were filed by Charles Whitson, East Main Street, father of the 15-year-old girl after his daughter had been discovered at the home of friends near Commercial Point after a two-day search, was bound over to the grand jury in his hearing before Mayor Cady.

Now is the time for every good man and woman to come to the aid of their respective parties; experts say it's going to be close.

500-PAGE WHITE PAPER GUARDED BY PROBE CHIEF

Former German Spy Ring Member Questioned In Chicago Hearing

ed two years he was employed by the Nazis to ferret out American military and industrial secrets.

Fassbender's complete record and testimony, Dies said, would be included in the "white paper" he wishes published.

Coincident with his Chicago inquiry, Dies revealed, his agents had raided the headquarters of "Italian and German organizations" in Chicago, New York, New Orleans and other major cities. These raids were made yesterday, he said, but he could not at this time give any details about them.

Big Mailing List Found

"I can say, however," he added, "that in the contents of secret records seized in Los Angeles recently we found that of 1,250 Germans on a mailing list, a large percentage were the names of persons employed in an aircraft plant that was busy filling government defense orders."

In Chicago, raids were made yesterday on ten un-designated places. Dies said persons found at the places had been subpoenaed for questioning, and records had been seized.

Chicago, the congressman indicated, has been an important center for espionage activities. He said four witnesses, three of them women, would be questioned today in addition to Fassbender. He declined to name any of the persons, but said he was particularly hopeful of the appearance of a prominent Chicago society woman. This woman, though Dies did not so state, was presumed to have been named by Fassbender.

CHIEF OF B. I. S. TO LEAVE POST FOR DRAFT JOB

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—Replacement of Maj. Harold L. Hays as superintendent of the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster appeared imminent today as he continued in his role as chief inspector for the State Selective Service Board.

Major Hays was inducted into federal service about three weeks ago and since has divided his time between the draft board duties and the Industrial School which he has headed since November, 1939.

Charles L. Sherwood, State welfare director, was not available for comment on Hays' status today but a usually reliable source said that the director was awaiting information on the length of time Hays would be in federal service before making an appointment to the industrial school post. Adjutant General Gilson D. Light, head of the State Selective Service Board, declared that Hays had been inducted into federal service "for 12 consecutive months" and would not be released before that time expires.

Ellis D. Tackett, of Portsmouth, arrested by Patrolman R. L. Galbreath on Route 23 south for displaying licenses issued for another motor vehicle, was fined $50 and costs with $40 of the fine suspended. Both men paid and were released.

ALBANIA CITY'S FATE UNCERTAIN; BY NAZI BOMBS CAPTURE DENIED IN NIGHT RAIDS

ian bombers totalling more than 400 machines attacked the Greek army in front of Koritza.

Latest dispatches from the front said the Greeks were maintaining the offensive on all fronts, capturing ten big guns, 33 anti-tank guns and 15 mortars in the Koritza area.

In addition, the Greeks resumed their encircling drive on Koritza and the fate of the town remained uncertain.

Both Greeks and Italians were reported hammering the rear areas by air and shelling the opposing fronts where close hand-to-hand fighting was progressing.

The Italians were concentrating their blows on Greek supply routes from the air while the Greeks bombed Italian reinforcements rushing up to "rescue" Koritza.

While Italian and Greek planes kept up an almost incessant series of air combats, the Italian infantry threw its full weight into a desperate effort to break the Greek ring around Koritza.

Wave after wave of crack Italian reinforcements rushed at the Greeks, but each time were hurled back.

TWO RARE BIRDS SHOT BY COUNTY GAME HUNTERS

William Shelton, 408 South Washington Street, shot a black pheasant, Monday afternoon, as he was hunting along Deer Creek near Williamsport. The bird, he said, was almost entirely black and slightly larger than the average ringneck. He said he had never seen a pheasant of its kind before.

The bird was the second of its variety reported killed in the county. J. R. Hoover, of Ashville, shot one Friday afternoon as he walked through a weed patch in Scioto Township. Members of Hoover's hunting party also reported seeing a white pheasant, but they did not get a shot at it.

Black pheasants have recently been imported into many sections of Ohio, although they are still rare in number.

NEIGHBORS LOOK US OVER

OUR country is obviously ill-prepared for war in comparison with prevailing standards in Europe today, but it probably not so bad as a lot of Americans imagine. If it were, it would have been foolish to bring those chiefs-of-staff of all the Latin-American countries here to see the situation. They were mostly experts trained in European schools.

From all accounts these American allies were tremendously impressed. They traveled around by airplane and saw our military establishments, army units, weapons and training methods, in every section of the country. They saw also the tremendous manufacturing power in our great industrial centers. They are said to have been agreeably surprised to find that we even had many weapons superior to those of European armies. Our training methods they pronounced first-class. Our warplanes and our skill in flying and air-bombing amazed them. They called our equipment "the best imaginable" and apparently decided that all we needed was more of it. Such observations were made by men who, for the most part, had been skeptical about our war materials and preparations before they came.

Those visitors are evidently going to carry very favorable reports back home and to cooperate enthusiastically with Uncle Sam in making this whole hemisphere safe for the people now owning and operating it. And their cooperation will be as reassuring to us as ours evidently to them.

HUMAN GREATNESS

COURAGE, heroism and skill were revealed in the radio-telephone distress and emergency messages sent from Great Lakes steamers during the terrific storm early last week. The head of a corporation handling most of the calls reported that in nearly every case they were sent "by calm captains who were to the point in giving desired information." Those men handled their ships as well as possible and facilitated rescue work in a way that proved their character.

Such an attitude is expected of persons who have attained positions of authority and responsibility. But it is often found in other walks of life. An observer writes from England that one of the most amazing things to him is the way ordinary men and women take hold in an emergency, do whatever organizing is necessary and proceed to carry on the work at hand—fire-fighting, clearing away debris, rescuing bomb victims, restoring normal routine.

This loyalty business might go too far. We heard a kid the other day saying that he has his dad's loyal opposition.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to find the snow about gone and the sun ashine, a grand day above and below. The morning prints told of continued Greek victories and of additional bombings all over Europe. Later did hear how Mussolini promised to "break the back" of Greece. Well, that should not be so difficult for such a mighty military machine as he controls. He outmans the Greeks six or seven to one, but the Greeks are fighters and the Italians are not. I will be greatly surprised, however if the weight of numbers does not begin to tell soon. But the Italians are in for a very tough time if the British are able to come through to the aid of the Greeks.

Hunters still roam the fields and the streets are filled with wild tales of the chase. Some of them intended as jokes, others intended to be believed. Each hunting season I have to spend much time explaining that I am not a hunter, and for two reasons. One, and the most important, is that very few of the men and boys who go hunting know the first thing about handling shotguns. Being around them is being too dangerous. The really surprising thing about hunting season is that the toll is not several times as great as it is.

Frank Lynch and then Dee Early called and issued invitations to accompany them to Chillicothe at noon to make up Rotary attendance, but did find it impossible to make the trip. Would have enjoyed their company.

My, what a bunch of turkeys hereabouts this year. Seems as though about every farm has them. Thirteen marksmen went turks at the Legion shoot Sunday, including Clark Will, the banker. But Clark won his by proxy. Jay Clark shot for him and made one of the prettiest shots of the day. Then Jay fired in the two following matches and didn't come close to winning. The Legion made about $15 on the match, which isn't much, considering a full afternoon of work. But everyone seemed to have a good time. Another shoot will be staged a week from next Sunday and will include chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys, with prices ranging from 15 to 50 cents for competitors.

Pop Betz took me to the basement of his restaurant to proudly display great improvements under way there. Complete rebuilding, and when completed 90 persons may be fed there at a time. Also was reminded of the Coffee Club turkey dinner set for Tuesday evening.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

800 BUNDISTS EMPLOYED

WASHINGTON—Dies committee agents have secretly warned government authorities to be on guard against an outbreak of sabotage in defense plants on the West Coast.

According to the Dies-men, biggest U. S. danger spot is Los Angeles, where Nazi and Communist fifth columnists have been unusually active of late. The Los Angeles area contains one of the largest concentrations of defense work in the country.

One reason for the Dies-men's fear was their discovery of a secret mailing list of 2500 names in a raid on the Los Angeles headquarters of the German-American Bund. Herman Schwinn, West Coast Bund fehrer, admitted, under questioning, that the list consisted of Nazi sympathizers who regularly attended Bund meetings.

A check-up of the names revealed the startling fact that 800 of them are employed in airplane plants, shipyards, oil refineries, auto factories and other key defense industries.

One of the thickest dossiers in the Dies committee files concerns Schwinn and his activities, dating back to 1924, when he entered the country as a German immigrant. Among the items in his long record is an account of an extraordinary speech Schwinn made recently to Bundists in Hindenburg Park, Los Angeles.

Shrieking defiance against a federal court order revoking his citizenship, Schwinn is recorded as saying, "As long as I have a voice and a mike, I will damn well say what I please. The persecutions I have gone through in this country have made me a better German than I was before. They cannot stop thinking, and feeling here is becoming stronger for Germany every day."

"There will be a new world order guaranteed by Germany, Italy and Japan, and the new order will come whether Churchill and Roosevelt like it or not."

EXIT JOE KENNEDY

Intimates of Ambassador Joe Kennedy are offering bets that he will not return to the Court of St. James'.

They are not taking much chance of losing money, for while publicly Joe has expressed his willingness to go back, the inside fact is that Kennedy tried to resign at his last conference with the President. Roosevelt firmly refused to consider it.

"Who could I send over in your place, Joe?" he protested.

Kennedy contended that he wasn't needed in London. "Judging by the amount of work I turned in during the last two months over there," he argued, "I'd say almost anyone could qualify for the job. You know I like to keep busy, but all I did over there was to sit around and watch the war."

But Roosevelt rejected this argument and insisted that Kennedy think it over "for a couple of weeks". From his private remarks since then, Kennedy still seems determined to quit.

Several very tempting business offers have been made to him; one from a large newspaper chain which he helped refinance several years ago. He has made no final decision, but returning to London definitely seems the last thing he intends to do.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Cold-Catcher

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● The term "catching cold" does not have any exact meaning. The medical profession does not know what "colds" are and they know very little about how they are "caught." The public, in general, is not bothered by any such doubts about terminology. Therefore, someone can announce a method of "curing" a cold or of "preventing" the catching of cold and no discrepancy appears to trouble them.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

One of the commonest of these problems is the cold which repeats itself and recurs time after time. These colds are due not to repeated infections, but to the lighting up of infection that already exists in the sinuses of the nose. The common cold confers a certain amount of immunity, and when a person has a cold he is usually free from it for six months or more. If, therefore, we find a fellow catching cold every week, we are likely to suppose that it is not a cold at all.

Difficult to Define

In laying the blame on the sinuses, however, the doctor is up against some other difficulties. The question arises just when is a sinus of the nose the seat of chronic recurrent infection? It is pretty difficult to define a normal sinus. All the nose sinuses have a good many anatomical twists and these are likely to vary a good deal. When drainage is good, and no sniffling and nose-blowing is troublesome, and when no obvious infection can be seen in the sinus, we may, however, say that it is normal.

It is not easy to infect a normal sinus. The nose has its own methods of defense against infection and resists becoming the seat of chronic inflammation very efficiently.

Modern doctors define conditions necessary to produce infection of the sinus as follows:

1. Interference with control of the blood vessels of the nose so that external conditions—temperature of the weather, temperature of the skin—will lead to anemia or to congestion alternately.

2. Interference with the liveliness of the little brushes on the cells (ciliary movement) which normally sweep bacteria that happen to light in the nose out into the outdoor world.

3. Mechanical interference with the passages from the nose due to abnormal structure.

4. Unusual environmental conditions.

Chronic Sinus

Pain and headache do not occur very frequently with chronic sinus infection. Only when one special group of sinuses is involved. Discharge, however, is a regular sign and a feeling of being stuffed up also is quite common.

With repeated catching cold, I should say that the most important examination that could be made would be by a specialist—an examination of the inside of the nose with a specially lighted instrument.

In treating the condition to prevent recurring colds we do not stress diet or vaccine or medicine particularly at all. Occasional cleansing irrigation of the sinus is valuable. The most valuable thing is to remove spurs or deviation in the bone which lead to the damming back of secretions which themselves become so easily infected.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. H. B.:—"My little girl of 4 and her chums are allowed to play in the cellar on rainy days. It is clean with cement floor, but unfurnished. Is this healthy?"

Answer—We don't recommend cellars for continuous habitation, but I should say that a child who has not played in a cellar on a rainy day has missed one of life's great privileges.

M. M.:—"Would you please answer my question in your columns about whether or not it harms the eye to have those drops put in the eye for an examination?"

Answer—Not in the least; it is the only way that a complete examination can be made.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by request. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT COLD CREAMING her face, dressing thoughtfully, Kit decided that she would talk plainly to Jerry.

She went on deck and sought him at once. But, when she came to him, there were others there with him and it was not the moment to break in on his pleasure.

It was that way all day. It was a gloomy day meant for a holiday mood.

The sunset and the races and the champagne cocktails marked the end of it. And when it was over, Kit felt a little foolish about her anxiety, and ashamed that she would have been so selfish as to spoil Jerry's day by asking him to tell her things that might have made her unhappy.

It wouldn't be necessary to speak to Jerry anyway. Fran would tell her all the truths she wanted to know.

But Fran was not to tell her anything that next morning.

Kit burst into her apartment the morning of her return, saying, "It was grand, Fran—but I've got a few things to talk over with you."

Fran's eyes darted to the clock, and Kit became aware for the first time of Fran's suitcase.

"I've got to go to Detroit."

"Who? . . . What?"

"Uncle Herman. He's had a stroke. I'm his favorite niece and—well, you've heard me speak about him plenty."

"Our pet? Of course I've heard you speak about Uncle Herman. And I'm terribly sorry—"

"He was awfully real to me when I was a kid. He looked pretty funny with his gold tooth and his barbershop roll. But I thought he was Santa Claus and all the angels. He was the only one I ever knew."

When you're a kid who had as little as I had, you don't forget the Uncle Herman in your life. He always had a little candy in a striped bag. He gave me a doll once with eyes that opened and closed—and a dress for graduation with an honest to goodness silk sash. So you see why I—"

Kit felt a lump in her throat. "Quit it, Fran. I'll bet he isn't badly hit at all and you're working your self up. But go and stay just as long as you want to. What time does your train leave?"

"Noon sharp."

"Well, for heaven's sake! You'll have to get a move on. Here, let me get you some fresh gloves."

Fran followed her into the bedroom. "I hate to leave now, Kit."

"Why not?" Kit asked innocently.

"Because you've got two whole weeks of free time on your hands and I'm afraid you'll get into mischief."

"Mischief? Me? Perish the thought, Fran. I'll rest a lot and do some shopping for some clothes. Perhaps I'll play a little golf with Jerry—drive out to the beach for some swimming. Come on, darling, or you're sure to miss your train."

Fran would not allow her to go to the station with her, only out to the taxi.

"You're really sure that I ought to go?" Fran asked worriedly from inside the cab.

"Not one more word of protest out of you. Get the best there is for Uncle Herman, give him my love. And Fran—any bills you know we can take care of."

"You are an angel, but a perverse one," Fran told her as the driver started the motor.

Kit detained her for a moment. "Fran, did—er—telephone—Vance drop around—any phone or anything while I was away?"

"Vance! He didn't! Don't you know that any Irishman, proud of the name, has too much pride to come around where he's been told he isn't wanted? See you soon, Kit."

"Wasn't wanted," Kit repeated softly to the back of the departing taxi.

She went back up the stairs to her own apartment and put her things away. Then she sat down to think. But thinking led her back to things she didn't want to think about by herself, to the unhappy problems she had so confidently expected Fran to dispel.

Well, there was no use settling her mind on unhappiness. She drifted over to her piano and got out the music she was going to sing that night, opened it and tried a few notes. She was too nervous to sing well, or concentrate on it.

There was a batch of new music which she looked over idly and then flung down on the smooth top of the piano. She wanted something physical to do and looked around for an inspiration. The apartment looked dusty, so she found a dust-cloth and polished in a frenzied fashion until the telephone interrupted her working off of steam.

She found to her surprise it was Jerry.

"I'm at Grand Central," he told her.

"But Jerry, I thought I left you two hours ago when you were on your way to Princeton."

"I was, but I ran into Buzz Peters at the Yale club and he and a couple of other guys are on their way to his camp in Maine. I'm going along. I'll be back in about ten days."

"Ten days!" she wailed. If he'd said he was going to Tibet, leaving her in a completely unpopulated world, she couldn't have felt more forlorn. She was thinking of the fortnight ahead of her.

"Do you really care?" Jerry's voice was sager at the other end of the wire.

"I care that you have a good time," she said guardedly. "Ring me up when you get back, Jerry."

The week was lonelier than she thought it would be. The people nearest to her were all away. Nana Harris had flown to the coast for a short visit before returning to announce her engagement to Howard Balch. Fran was gone and there was no word from Vance. There were, of course, the usual number of invitations in which she was not interested and which she would not accept because she would not leave the apartment. Suppose Vance called?

But Vance did not telephone.

Fran wrote frequently from Detroit. Kit answered cheerily.

Then came the fateful day when Fran wrote:

"The old man was tickled so pink to see me that he's getting well. I sure was glad to come where someone appreciated my efforts to help."

Kit winced at that. "The doc says he's getting along all right, but he wants me to stay a couple of weeks longer."

"Meanwhile my boy friend is burning up the mails asking for a picture. Remember you and Jimmie persuaded me to pose for a bunch about a month ago? Will you dig one out and shoot it over to Lars at the studio? You'll find them in a big brown manila envelope in the bottom drawer of my dresser."

Kit went at once to the dresser and searched, but there was no manila envelope.

"She must have meant the bottom drawer of her desk," Kit said to herself, and accordingly pulled open the drawer which was filled with large envelopes.

The first one spilled press photographs of herself. She put it aside and reached for the second, which contained family portraits of Fran's people. The third envelope rained a mass of newspaper clippings into her lap.

She saw that they were clippings from the radio columns and picked up one to read it.

She felt an icy chill go over her as she read the first one. It trembled in the grasp of her shaking fingers.

Much good fortune, success and popularity in the next year are promised to those who have birthdays today. They should, however, be careful of overstrain because of over-enthusiasm and an occasional error of judgment.

Born today a child will be persistent and determined, also courageous and enterprising. His or she will, however, be somewhat liable to ensnarement by the senses, and fond of display—especially if born late in the day.

Sorosis Hears Address, Initiates Six Members

Mrs. George Hamman, Jr., Discusses Two Negro Leaders

Thirty-one members of the Williamsport Sorosis Club gathered Monday at the home of Mrs. Brance Johnson of that community and enjoyed the excellent talk by Mrs. George Hamman, Jr., program leader, who presented brief biographies of Booker T. Washington and Paul Lawrence Dunbar.

A class of candidates, Mrs. Ida Ware, Mrs. Ralph Cook, Miss Alice Rardin, Mrs. Archie Rawlinson, Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Ilo Stevenson, was received in the club through formal initiation in charge of Mrs. Russell Wardell, Mrs. William D. Radcliff and Mrs. Paul Rose.

After discussing the lives and work of Washington and Dunbar, Mrs. Hamman recited a poem by Dunbar and talked concerning Negro spirituals. In illustration of her points, Miss Smith sang "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia", "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground" and "Old Black Joe." Miss Rardin played the piano accompaniments.

After the initiation of candidates, Mrs. Wardell presented a resume of club history saying that it had been founded in 1919 by Mrs. K. Kanuth, wife of a minister at that time in Williamsport, with Mrs. John Dunlap, Sr., Mrs. Eugene Pinker and Mrs. J. S. Varney as sponsors.

Mrs. Radcliff read the constitution of the club and the group joined in several songs during the program hour.

Mrs. Howard Nessell presided during the short business hour, Mrs. Adrian McVey, secretary, reporting at this time.

Assisting hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Paul Rose, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Archie Rawlinson and Mrs. Royal Hamman.

Dr. Held to Speak

Dr. Felix R. Held of Ohio State University will be guest speaker at the next meeting of Monday Club, December 2, his subject being "Interpretations of World Events." Announcement of this outstanding event was made at the Monday meeting of the club in the Sunday School room, Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Henry S. Lewis, president, was in the chair, turning the session to Mrs. R. F. Lilly, department chairman, at the close of the business hour. The program was presented by the Art department under the general topic for the year "Meeting a Changing World", with papers by Mrs. John W. Eshelman and Mrs. Robert Musser.

Mrs. Eshelman's paper, "Our Government in Art", began thus: "In these days of a precedent breaking and changing world, probably none of you will be startled to hear that another precedent has been broken. For the first time in our history, art is being deliberately fostered by our government. Authentic American Art. Due to this, artists are seeing the power and beauty of America, and the people are seeing themselves and their traditions through the eyes of their own artists."

Mrs. Eshelman sketched the establishment of the Public Works of Art Project, its early success, its development into two branches, one, the Section of Fine Arts, for decorating federal buildings with paintings and sculpture, and second, the continuation of the original Public Works of Art Project, a relief program which employed artists to work in their chosen fields, and which was expanded into teaching, compilation of the famous Index of American Design, children's classes, community art centers and other new fields.

In her paper, "New Contributions to Mural Art", Mrs. Musser defined a mural as being more than a painting on the surface of a wall; rather it is an integral part of an architectural unit, a pattern of color decorating the space and harmonizing with the form and spirit of the surrounding architecture. The increased popularity of mural art in the past decade, she attributed to the nationalization of American Art, the work of the American Scene artists, and to the demand the government has created for mural paintings in the federal buildings throughout the land.

Mrs. Musser paid tribute to the impetus given mural art by the two powerful and energetic Mexicans, Diego Rivera and Orozco, then sketching the aims, work and training of notable American

The story deals with the now almost forgotten Erie Canal, affectionately known to America of the 19th century as the "big ditch". The Erie or Grand Canal, was the tremendous man-made waterway opened in 1825 that sluiced the commerce of the seven seas into the Midwest, and in return transferred the rich resources of mid-America into the arteries of a debt ridden young nation.

Course for Officials' Counting Lessons Urged

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Football, long since recognized as possibly the most intricate of contact games for the spectators to follow and for the players to play, has reached the point this season where even the officials spend a part of their time stumbling around in rapt befuddlement. As a result, the various associations and committees which govern the game are going to do some lengthy haranguing before next fall in an effort to forestall another such campaign as this one.

The latest untoward incident, of course, was Dartmouth's 3 to 0 victory as of yesterday in the game which Cornell won by 7 to 3 on Saturday while the officials were looking the other way. Finally convinced that their team had scored its seven points with the aid of a fifth down, Cornell officials themselves reversed the outcome and gave the game to Dartmouth by the margin of the latter's field goal.

But that won't end the hangover of officiating which at times has been utterly unique this season. Some of the skulkers haven't been publicized so much because outcome of the game was not vitally affected, but the point is this been a memorable campaign for the gents in the white panties.

13 HIGH SCHOOLS FINISH SEASONS WITHOUT DEFEAT

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—Although a few scattered precincts will not make final returns until Thanksgiving Day, thirteen Ohio high school football teams today stored the moleskins in the moth balls for another season and tacked perfect records on the bulletin boards to inspire later generations.

Unchallenged state champions for the sixth consecutive year are the Terrible Tigers of Massillon High School. Victorious in ten consecutive games, the Tigers climaxed their season Saturday by chalking up their 33rd consecutive victory in the form of a 34-6 win over their oldest and most bitter rival, the Canton McKinley Bulldogs.

Powhatan's powerhouse, playing out of Belmont County, completed the season with the best record in the state—if figures count. The Indians shut out Yorkville, 6-0 to end the season with a record of nine straight wins and their goal line still untouched. They scored 194 points during the campaign with Adam Tolzda, fleet halfback, tallying 114 of that total.

West Jefferson finished a week ago with nine straight while eight time winners are Mentor, also unscored upon, Oxford McGuffey, Xenia O.S.S.O., Hudson, Toledo Clay, Orville, Dennison, Ashtabula, Sandusky St. Mary's and McConnellsville-Malta.

Coach Johnny Heiskell of the C.A.C. team is not yet ready to announce his starting lineup for the game booked Thanksgiving Night.

NINE OHIO GRID GAMES ON LIST FOR TURKEY DAY

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—Nine Ohio grid clashes, three of which have taken on a traditional flavor after long rivalries and a fourth which will decide the Ohio Conference championship, are scheduled for Thanksgiving Day.

Headlining the Turkey Day program is the meeting of Wittenberg's unbeaten and untied Lutherans and the Heidelberg Tri-Color at Springfield. The Lutherans need a victory to cop the title and should get it without much trouble especially if the high-scoring John Kostoyo is rambling as he has most of the season.

Of equal importance is the meeting of Western Reserve and Case at Cleveland at League Park in a morning game. Western Reserve has one of the best teams in its history, having kayoed six opponents in seven games with only a 20-12 loss to Dayton spoiling the record. Case, also has tasted of defeat but once, and is seeking the Big Four title along with the victory over Bill Edwards' eleven.

In other Thursday games, Cincinnati and Miami get together at Cincinnati in the renewal of a rivalry that started in 1888; John Carroll plays at Akron in a morning game; Ohio University goes against Xavier's Musketeers at Cincinnati; Ohio Wesleyan travels to Dayton for a match with the Flyers while Bowling Green moves into Michigan for a fracas with Wayne University, of Detroit.

GOPHERS ON TOP NATION'S TEAMS IN AZZI RATEM

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—Unbeaten and untied Minnesota, new football champion of the Western conference, was placed first among the nation's college elevens today in the Azzi RateM rankings. Cornell was ranked second and Texas A. and M. third.

Others in the first ten were, in order, Stanford, Tennessee, Michigan, Boston College, Nebraska, Mississippi U., and Northwestern.

NEW BOSS READY TO START WORK AS CUB MANAGER

Jimmy Wilson, With Two Year Contract, Sees Changes In Club Roster

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—Jimmy Wilson today promised that as manager of the Chicago Cubs, succeeding Gabby Hartnett, he will show some of the hustle which made him the hero of the 1940 World Series when he stepped from the coaching sidelines to get behind the plate for Cincinnati.

The 40-year-old baseball veteran, who has seen 18 years of service with the National League as player, coach and manager, was too modest to express his ambitions in just those words, but he did say he'd not hesitate to shake up the Cubs wherever needed to build a winning team.

Wilson signed a two-year contract last night at straight salary. The terms were not announced, but the new pilot of the Cubs said he was satisfied. Formal signing of the contract came after Warren Giles, general manager of the Reds, presented Wilson with his unconditional release as a Cincinnati player-coach.

Thus was completed the shake-up of the Cubs promised last week by Owner P. K. Wrigley when he dismissed Hartnett, whose one-year contract had only until December 31 to run. Another major injection of new blood into the club personnel was the appointment of James T. Gallagher, sports writer, as general business manager. It has been hinted that Gallagher may eventually move up to the presidency when and if Wrigley carries out his threat to "fire" himself.

Major Changes Loom

Wilson wasted no time getting down to work, but was cautious about making public his plans in too great detail. However, major changes appeared in order.

"There is one thing certain," Wilson said, "and that is that I'll listen to all trade propositions. I saw plenty of the Cubs during last season, but of course then I wasn't seeing them from the same slant I have now as their manager. But there probably will be some changes. Any time I think I can make a swap by which the team will benefit I won't hesitate to act."

"One thing I think we'll need is a little more pitching." Wilson's first official act was his announcement he had already decided on one new coach—Charles H. ("Dick") Spalding, a former coach under Wilson when the latter managed Philadelphia's Phillies. Like Wilson, Spalding is a former Philly player. Wilson said he probably would decide on another new coach soon, and this apparently eliminated from the Cubs scheme of things the current coaches, George Uhl and Johnny ("Red") Corriden.

Not On Active List

Spalding, Wilson indicated, will be used mostly to help along young players. Wilson himself is expected to take over the third base coaching job, and it is not believed he will list himself on the active player list.

NOTRE DAME MAY RATE UNDERDOG FIRST TIME

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 19—Notre Dame's football team, upset by Iowa last week, today began workouts for the game at Northwestern this week with the possibility it may be the underdog for the first time this year. As scrimmages started following a week end layoff, Coach Elmer Layden warned the squad the Wildcats may be the toughest team it has faced.

PERSONS WHO DONATE TO PUMPKIN SHOW TO DECIDE ITS FATE

CONTRIBUTORS TO BALLOT ON PLANS FOR '41

Directors Unanimous That Event Should Be Two Weeks Earlier

ELECTION ON SCHEDULE

Treasurer Believes 1940 Festival Has Chance To Break Even

Whether or not Circleville will have another Pumpkin Show will be decided by those who contributed to this year's event.

Such a decision was reached by Show directors at their meeting in Council Chamber Monday night, after they had discussed the merits of numerous reports that the Show had "gone stale," and voted unanimously to send letters to all 1940 donors, asking them to answer "yes" or "no" to the question "Are you in favor of a Pumpkin Show next year?" Donors also will be asked to suggest ways in which the Show might be improved. Show directors believed that in this way they can determine the true sentiment regarding the continuance of the affair.

Opinions regarding the success of this year's Show differed considerably among the directors themselves, as they discussed the Society's financial status. Pumpkin Show Treasurer Robert Colville told directors he did not believe the Show would have a marked deficit this year, and added he believed by the first of the year, all bills could be paid.

Mack Parrett, secretary of the Society, has previously reported the Show cost approximately $7,500. Of this amount $2,257.30 was spent for premiums, $109 for judges and the rest for labor and miscellaneous expenses. Total amount taken in amounted to $5,680. Secretary Parrett has reported, with $3,830 received from concessions, $1,400 from donations and $450 from shows and rides. An additional $1,300 is assured from the State Department of Agriculture. Treasurer Colville reported Monday night, and with the little money that is still coming in, he said he believed the Show would almost "break even."

Directors reviewed what they believed to be the principal causes for the drop in attendance at the 1940 show. Bad weather was cited as one of the contributing factors, and directors generally expressed the opinion that the show, if held at all, should be held two weeks earlier next year.

Plans were made to elect 1941 directors, and December 7 was set as the date for the election. Forrest Short and Robert Brehmer will serve as judges and Arthur Johnson and Robert Colville as tellers for the election. Polls in the city building will be open from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. and any member of the Pumpkin Show Society may vote. Directors whose terms expire this year are George McDowell, T. D. Krinn, Mack Parrett, Karl Herrman and Dan McClain.

DRIVER FORFEITS $100
George James, 30, Williamsport, cited Sunday for driving when intoxicated, was released from City Jail, Monday, after he had provided $100 bond. He failed to appear for his hearing, scheduled for Monday at 7 p. m. before Mayor William B. Cady. Patrolmen George Green and Elmer Merriam made the arrest.

COUNCILMEN MAY TALK RATES FOR INDUSTRIES

City Council may renew their efforts to establish sewage assessments for Circleville industries when it meets Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the council chamber. Analytical reports have been prepared by the Container Corporation, the Winor Canning Company, the Esmeralda Canning Company, and the O'Brien-Potts Company and will be submitted to council at their Wednesday night meeting in an effort to establish "just" rates. City officials, Monday, did not comment on what action, if any, Council might take to bolster its depleted treasury.

Historical Thanksgiving

Many scenes have been written into American history since the first Thanksgiving was observed! Styles have changed. Laws have changed. Science, industry and mechanization have made fast strides in every phase of business and life. Much has changed. But people remain the same—and today as generations ago, we still are thankful for the land we live in. For the religious freedom that was made our heritage by those first Americans—emigrants all, from lands of persecution. History has seen many changes. But to us in America, there is still much to be thankful for.

Finale Of Kiwanis Club Series To Be Offered

The final number of the Kiwanis Club's Fall Festival series will be presented Wednesday evening in the High School auditorium when the famous Broadway comedy "The Big Pond" will be presented at 8 o'clock.

The festival series this year has been outstanding, the Knickerbocker Quartette, Max Gilstrap, the naturalist, and Scheetz, the magician, providing outstanding entertainment. The final number promises to be equally satisfactory.

Proceeds of the entertainment go to the club's fund for underprivileged children.

This play, by George Middleton and Augustus Thomas, with its good-natured but keenly observant jibes at the differences between European and American love-making, is a grand antidote for taking international affairs too seriously all the time. American Business Man Henry Billings, wife Emily and daughter Barbara, in Europe are assisted in sight-seeing by French Courier Pierre de Mirande, who falls in love, of course, with Barbara, to Father Henry's immediate displeasure—as well as that of Ronny Davis, young and coming employee of the Billings Rubber Co., of Vernon, Ohio. Mr. Billings' version of a good idea is to transplant romantic and continental Pierre to Vernon, and show him up against a "real American" background, as a cure for his darling Barbara's attachment and interest.

CADY'S RECORDS WELL KEPT, SAYS STATE EXAMINER

Clarence H. Swain, state examiner, in his report regarding the city government, commended Mayor William B. Cady and local officials on their neat and accurate records, and labeled local officers as "courteous and prompt" in furnishing records for examination.

Examiner Swain's statement follows: "We wish to commend the mayor, William B. Cady, for keeping such neat and accurate records as we found in the Mayor's court and office. It will be noted that approximately $15,000 was collected by the mayor during the seventeen month period. "It will also be noted that quite a number of arrests were made by the state highway patrol, state conservation officers, and the county sheriff, and were held by local police, and prosecuted through the mayor's court, due to the good services rendered by local officers and Mayor William B. Cady.

"The mayor distributes the fines and costs as collected on the first business day of each month, and no errors were noted by the examiner. The fact that the mayor issues receipts for all collections, and he records his cases daily, made it comparatively easy for us to audit and verify the collections and deposits to various treasuries.

"In conclusion, this report as submitted is the correct statement of the results of the examination as shown by the records and accounts. "The officials were courteous and prompt in furnishing the necessary records and information for the examination, for which we express our sincere appreciation."

The house and lot at 216 West Mound Street, scheduled to be sold at a sheriff's sale, Monday, failed to sell, no bids being offered. The property will be reappraised before another sale is scheduled, the sheriff said. The house and lot were appraised at $3,400. They belong to Mrs. Carrie Patton.

CALDWELL, Nov. 19—It is two weeks since the election, but Noble County residents are not certain yet who is their county engineer-elect.

A count of votes after the balloting stopped showed Grover Smith, Democrat, elected to his third term over Homer Weedon, a Republican, by four votes, 3939 to 3935. But on a recount demanded by the Republican, Smith was shown the loser by the same count.

The Democratic incumbent announced immediately that he would contest the recount.

THE "Sauce of Courage"
AT AMERICA'S THANKSGIVING FEAST
The Pilgrims did not thank Providence for having made life soft for them. Hardship was their common lot. Arrows as well as berries came from the bushes. They gave thanks for the spiritual strength and guidance coming down to them from on High. In the same spirit today, as we sit at our feast of abundance, let us thank the Giver of All for the "sauce of courage," for the threat of danger which has saved us from fatal softness, and united us in a renewed love of liberty and of country.
